STANFORD, KY., TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1892.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Alex Julian, the blind brother of Judge Ira Julian, of Frankfort, eloped to Lexington with his housekeeper, Mrs. Herndon, and married her.

—John McSorley, a Philadelphia street car conductor, has been married 11 times and eight of his wives are now living. He is evidently trying to imitate Brigham Young.

—The Harrodsburg Sayings is authority for the statement that Judge John W. Hughes will take unto himself a wife on the 14th of December, in the person of Miss Alma Robinson, a highly accomplished lady. The ceremony will be in the parlors of the Louisville Hotel and the couple will leave next morning for Chicago. Solomon says in his Proverbs "Whoever findeth a wife findeth a good thing," and we hope that our friend will be so happy that it won't matter with him whether he gets the Federal office he is after or not, though he deserves a good one.

—The marriage of Mr. Luther B. Givens, an excellent young man, late of this county, to Miss Lillie Young, a popular belle of Versailles, was duly and prettily celebrated Thanksgiving evening, but we learn from the Lexington Press that a scene occurred afterwards, not down on the hills. Among those present was a man named Shouse, a nephew of Eld. J. S. Shouse, of Lexington. He is a discarded lover and had boasted how he would kiss the bride as soon as the ceremony was performed, and this had come to the ears of Mr. Givens. As good as his word Shouse walked boldly up to the bride, without even saying if you please to the groom, and thrust his arms around the beautiful girl, and before she had even time to blush he had stolen a kiss as ever naughty man stole from the luscious lips of a beautiful woman. But the amuck which followed sounded louder than the kiss and it did not come from the pretty hand of the bride, either, but from the clenched fist of the groom. He smashed his defeated rival and smashed him hard, too. Of course Shouse attempted to lilt back, but was grabbed and taken away. Before he left he apologized to both bride and groom, through the instance, it is said, of the bride's father. The affair has created quite a sensation. It won't do to fool with a Lincoln county boy, especially after he has had a Harrodsburg training. It does not often occur that a man has to prove so quickly his sincerity in the promise to "protect" the woman of his choice. Mr. Givens was not found wanting at the critical moment nor will he, we guarantee, be indifferent to the rest of the promise "to love and cherish till death shall part them."

—The marriage of Miss Julia Bryan Yager and Mr. James Taylor Short was beautifully solemnized in the New Broadway Christian church, Louisville, Wednesday evening, Nov. 23d. The church was handsomely decorated with palms and ferns and Solbert's orchestra furnished the music. A few minutes after 8 o'clock, the appointed hour, the doors were thrown open to admit the bridal party. During the ceremony by Rev. J. T. Hawkins, the orchestra played softly and sweetly Schubert's Serenade. The bride was attired in a handsome white silk and coral and carried bridal roses. She was indeed a picture of loveliness. Miss Bessie Bernard, the maid of honor, wore lemon colored silk, and yellow chrysanthemums and ferns. Mr. Clarence Short, brother of the groom, was best man. Miss Lillie Newhall and Miss Mary McKinney were white silk and carried white and pink chrysanthemums with ferns. Messrs. Oscar Renter and W. J. Yager were the other attendants. The ushers were Messrs. Alex Collins, T. E. Bryan, Hugh Cutler, Louisville, and L. V. Butler, Paris. After the ceremony the bridal party and a few friends drove to the bride's home, 117 W. St. Catherine St. where a delightful lunch had been prepared. Mr. and Mrs. Short left at 2:30 A. M. for a trip East, where they will remain several days. On their return they will be entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Short, the groom's parents. The presents were handsome and numerous. The bride is one of the most beautiful and charming women we ever knew and the man who has won her has secured a prize beyond compare. May they be always happy.

—An honest Sheldahl tells his story in plain but unmistakable language for the benefit of the public. "One of my children took a severe cold and got the croup. I gave her a teaspoonful of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and in five minutes later I gave her one more. By this time she had to cough up the phlegm in her throat. Then she went to sleep and slept good for fifteen minutes. Then she got up and coughed, then she went back to bed and slept good for the remainder of the night. She got the croup the second night and I gave her the same remedy with the same good results. I write this because I thought there might be some one in the same need and not know the true merits of this wonderful medicine." Charles A. Thompson, Dr. M. L. Bourne, Druggist and Optician, Stanford, Ky.

—Gen. Grunewald says that Carnegie caused Harrison's defeat.

DANVILLE.

—The wife of James Taylor, marshal of Hustonville, who killed Wm. Powers, Friday, was Miss Mary Newlin, of Danville.

—E. H. Fox put up Saturday morning his first weather signals. They signified "local showers, followed by warmer clear weather." [And they weren't fulfilled, either. E.]

—Mr. Sidney Wortham, the railroad agent, who was assassinated at Jellico, Thursday night, was a member of Ryan Commandery No. 17, Knights Templar, of Danville. He was initiated here and had many personal friends among the Masonic fraternity at Danville.

—John Hamner got drunk Saturday night at McKinney and tried to take the town and had only taken about three-fourths of it when Marshal Frank Ellis nabbed him and brought him to the Danville Jail to sober up. Sunday morning John couldn't recollect what he had done. He was taken back Monday evening for trial.

—Maurice Long, of the D. and D. Institute, owns the pistol with which Dr. Evans killed Jesse Hill, at Lancaster, during the famous Hill-Evans feud many years ago. It somewhat resembles the old-fashioned horse pistol. But is a little longer and a better weapon. It has a percussion lock and looks like an accurate shooter.

—The deer hunters returned from Tennessee Wednesday night. They had a good time generally and killed 12 deer and plenty of smaller game. J. M. Bailey killed one deer, J. T. Bailey two, A. W. Eastland two, G. T. Helm two, Wilson Mitchell one, Wayman Woodlee four, George Benfro, who went with the party, but who did not hunt with it, while at his father's 15 miles distant killed a fine buck.

—Mr. Ed Fox has an alligator a foot and a half long given him by a friend, who brought it from Florida last summer. During one of the cold nights last week the small tub of water in which the gator slept froze up and the gator in the morning was unable to move, but still alive. Since being thawed out he is as good as new. If any one says that the night referred to was a hot one the alligator is prepared to reply that the allegation is false and that the alligator at least knows it.

—Post-Master Van Pelt last week made his yearly visit of inspection to the post-offices at Parksville, Gano, Faulconer, Alico, Perryville, Brantfield, Mitchellburg, Alum Springs, Junction City, Shelby City and Hedgeville, all in Boyle county. He found them all in good condition and so reported. By the end of the next fiscal year, which will be March 31st next, it is hoped Danville may reach the rank of second class among post offices. Last year less than $200 more in the way of receipts would have entitled her to this rank.

—The much-talked-of case of William Debaun, charged with striking Frank Casey with a gun, was disposed of at Perryville Friday. The facts as they turned out on proof were about as follows: Debaun and Casey had a misunderstanding last June, at the conclusion of which Debaun told Casey never to come on his place again. Debaun, however, had a tenant named James Allen, who was friendly with Casey and who invited him to his house. A few days ago Casey wishing to go hunting, went to Allen's house to borrow his gun and while he was loading it Debaun came in armed with a gun. Upon entering he said, "What are you doing here, Frank Casey?" Casey did not answer and the question was repeated, when Casey replied, "Don't you see what I am doing?" At this Debaun struck him over the head with his gun and knocked him down. A jury heard the case and fixed Debaun's fine at $10 and costs. J. W. Yerkes defended and County Attorney Harding prosecuted.

—Judge McFerran decided, Monday morning, not to order for Jan. 31 an election asked for by 25 per cent of the legal voters of Junction City to decide whether or not spirituous, vinous and malt liquors shall be sold at retail within the limits of that town. The petitioners base their right to vote on the proposition named by virtue of an act approved by the governor Aug. 6, 1892, entitled, "An act whereby the people of any county, city, town or precinct, may vote as to whether spirituous, vinous or malt liquors shall be sold, bartered or loaned therein." The judge decided that what is generally known as "the live year law," approved Jan. 24, 1890, was still in effect and that the vote of a portion of the county, even under the act of Aug. 6, 1892, could not render it imperative. Further action will be taken, but whether it will be a mandamus suit to try to compel the issuance of the order for an election, or an appeal to the circuit court, has not been determined on by counsel for the petitioners.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—The "Pandora Party" at the residence of Dr. B. F. Walter, on Friday evening, for the benefit of the Methodist church, was well attended. Music was furnished by the concert band and a considerable sum realized for the church. Suitable refreshments were served and all enjoyed the entertainment.

—The funeral of Judge Walton Eason took place Thursday afternoon and after religious services at the residence conducted by Rev. J. E. Tercey at the Presbyterian church, the remains were escorted to the cemetery by the Old Fellows, preceded by the Lancaster Cornet Band. The music was excellent and the services at the grave were impressive and appropriate.

—The Presbyterian church was filled on Thanksgiving day. The services consisted of music by the choir assisted by singers from all the churches. The addresses were short and divided as follows: 1. "Reasons for Thanksgiving by the Nation;" response by Rev. Green of the Methodist church. 2. "Reasons for Thanksgiving in the Church;" response by Eld. J. C. Frank of the Christian church. 3. "Reasons for Thanksgiving in the Home;" address by Rev. J. E. Tercey of the Presbyterian church. The speeches were appropriate and doubtless met the approval of the entire audience. The services commenced at 10:30 A. M. and concluded at 12 M. The day was appropriately observed by the people generally.

—Miss Jessie Atkinson has returned to St. Joe, Missouri. Miss Myra Owsley, of Hubble, is visiting her cousin, Miss Mertie Wilda. Miss Lizzie Simpson, of Marksbury, is the guest of Miss Carrie West. Mr. Ernest Sprague spent Thanksgiving with Mr. Casey Owsley. Misses Allie Walker and Sue Doty visited Mrs. Joel Walker last week. Miss Mary Burnside entertained her young friends at a early pulling Saturday night. Charlie Frisbie, of Centre College, has been home for several days. Miss Nellie Dillion has returned from a visit to Stanford. Miss Ellen Owsley is visiting in Louisville. Miss Fannie Gordon, of Hebron, is visiting her sister, Miss Prudence Gordon, at Garrard College. Mr. W. G. Dunlap will spend the winter in Florida. E. K. Higgins, of Louisville, was here last week.

—The party given by Mr. Frank Marksbury was heartily enjoyed by a large circle of the youth and beauty of the town and vicinity. Everything passed off pleasantly, the refreshments were excellent and the music charming. The reception committee, consisted of Misses Mary Miller, Nell Marrs, Altie Marksbury and Messrs. John Fara and John Anderson. Mr. Marksbury was assisted in entertaining by his sister, Miss Bessie. Among those present were Misses Florence Harris, Jennie Burnside, Hallie Herring, Katie Simpson, Lizzie Simpson, Carrie West, Della Hughes, Lillie Grant, Lizzie Thompson, George Miller, Nannie Harris, Addie Burnside, Mertie Wilda, Myra Owsley, Nellie Ruyton, Messrs. Willard Noel, Will Robinson, Ashbrook Frank, Robert and Will Emory, Victor Leavell, Burt Spencer, Westley McQuerry, Ed and Jess Arnold, Charlie Frisbie, Will Collier, Owen Stephens, Randolph Harris, Horace and Leslie Herndon, Will Walker, Jim Cunningham, Joe Francis, Kirk Kirby, El Doty, Mack Lawson, J. Swopes, Eph Brown, J. Sweeney, Casey Owsley, Ernest Sprague, of Danville, Louis and Charlie Walker.

—It was the Bard of Avon who said: "The man who hath no music in his soul, and is not moved by concord of sweet sounds, is fit for treason, stratagem and spurs, let no man trust him." Impressed with the idea that our national legislators should be educated in the divine art, Ex-Senator Carl Schurz, who is a true patriot, is anxious to represent the State of New York in the Senate, and Mr. Bob Taylor, of Tennessee, who won his way to the governorship of that State by the skillful manipulation of his violin, is also seeking senatorial honors. The ex-governor may succeed in learning some of his fellow members how to "fiddle up something new" and the two together might play duets that would soften the asperities of a heated debate. But now comes C. G. Conn, the great manufacturer of cornets at Elkhart, Indiana, who has just been elected as a member of Congress in the 13th district of Indiana. He is an ardent democrat, and as he knows a good horn when he sees it and how to produce good tones and keep in the right key, he may soon catch on to the manners and customs of the average politician of the age and learn to blow his own horn upon all suitable occasions. With Conn on the cornet, Taylor on the fiddle and Schultz on the piano, no discordant sounds should be heard in the capitol in the future. If the speaker should be unable to call the House to order, let him call for music by the band and all will be hushed into respectful silence in the twinkling of an eye.

CRAB ORCHARD.

—Judge Moore has been duly sworn in and is very busy now, attending to his duties and looking very dignified.

—Mr. Levi Todd shipped a car-load of apples from Crab Orchard to Shelbyville Ind., apples in that country being a failure this year.

—Mr. C. C. McClure shipped a car-load of hogs and one of cattle to Cincinnati Wednesday. He paid from 4 to 53 cents for hogs and 2 1/2 to 3 cents for the cattle.

—Wednesday noon the house of Jas. Lawless burned to the ground. It was occupied by W. O. Hansford and was uninsured. This is the second time in a year Judge Hansford has been burned out. This time he lost most of his household goods.

—The Keeley Institute is again on a boom and new recruits are coming in daily, while those who are cured return to their homes to begin life anew. It is quite interesting to read some of the beautiful letters written back to the institute by graduates. They would bring tears to the eyes of a demon. Only those who live in this vicinity can realize the grand success of the Keeley treatment.

—Crab Orchard people are beginning their annual move. W. E. Perkins has moved into the Arment property. W. O. Hansford has taken the Garnett house. Mr. and Mrs. Davie Huffman, who occupied the Garnett House, have gone to Danville, Ind., to spend the winter. Mrs. Eva Ward has rented her property to Mr. W. S. Beazley and she will board at the Harris House next year. Mrs. Sue Holmes' family will move into her property now occupied by Mr. Beazley.

—Our little town has been very gay last week. On Thursday night a delightful candy party was enjoyed at Mrs. Moore's, after which dancing was indulged in until a late hour. Friday evening a quilt party was held at the residence of C. C. McClure, where those who did not dance had a nice social reception and those who danced enjoyed themselves at the home of Col. D. G. Slaughter, where as usual everything passed off lovely.

—Miss Rose Stuart has returned home looking exceedingly well after her lengthy visit to various places in Kentucky. Mrs. J. F. Holland and sister are visiting in Nicholasville, Ind. Mrs. James Fish has returned home from Red House and reports her daughter, Mrs. Dr. Black, convalescent. Miss Ora Wilmore is visiting her mother, Mrs. F. W. Dillion. Mr. Arch McKinney, Jr., is visiting at Mr. John Buchanan's. Miss Minnie Edmiston has returned home after a very pleasant visit to Miss Maggie Tucker, at Maywood. OCCASIONAL.

CHARITY.

If thou see a brother coming,
Tending sadly 'neath his load,
Do not haste to add unto it,
Or to rougher make his road.

If another pass beside thee,
Walking blithely on his way,
Do not say, "Oh, let him carry
Load, my burden for a day."

Or in envy seek to trip him
Could his tall thy burden lift
Than another's pain, the sorrow
Thou or I must carry, shift.

Rather speed him on his journey
With a blessing from the heart,
In another's cheerful gladness
Let thy sorrow lose its smart.

Like God's angels, little children
May surround us for a day;
At His word they have their being,
Then, like us, they pass away.

Do not, oh! whatever thy trouble,
Let its shadow fall on them;
In the light the angels brighten,
Uplifted by the parent stem.

Keep thy burden, God hath sent it;
He who doth the sparrows feed
Spares or gives with equal wisdom,
Knowing well thy utmost need.

Fear thy pain, it hath its mission,
With thou count the pang too dear,
That shall teach thee wider wisdom,
Higher faith or holier fear?

Life is chequered—joy and sorrow,
Happier not a happier fate;
Grieve no man his brief enjoyment,
Heavily labor wisely wait.

EVERY FRIDAY.

The London Echo makes us a proposition that if the republican policies do not prove a greater blessing to the American people than those of the democratic party, he is to abandon the republicans, and if they do we are to go back on our first and only love, the democratic party. We are not afraid of the result, but the proposition is not a fair one by any means. We would not under any circumstances or conditions embrace the hideous doctrines of republicanism, repugnant as they are to our very soul, while our steamed contemporary would improve his moral, social and intellectual standing by abandoning them forthwith and forever. When a man offers a proposition to another he ought certainly to make the odds sufficiently in the other man's favor to give him some chance of accepting it.

The Somerset Republican can possess its soul in peace. The democrats are going to fulfill every promise about bringing the tariff to a revenue instead of a protective object. They do not intend to act hastily so as to injure any established industries, but will do one thing at a time and all things in their proper place. Rome was not built in a day and the devilry committed by the republicans in 30 years of power cannot be undone in a year. Be aisy, though, Brer Lewis, and if you can't be aisy be as aisy as you can. Before the next four years shall have been numbered with the past, you will wish you had not strayed from the fold, but remained with God's chosen people—the democratic party.

The pension office report shows that there were on the rolls June 30, 1892, 1,856,087, an increase of 179,928, calling for an appropriation of $186,000,000, notwithstanding 28 years have intervened since the war. Every deserving soldier, who needs it, should be paid enough to support him comfortably, but the pension list needs pruning to the quick and we hope the democratic Congress will have courage enough to do it. It is a growing shame that so many scamps, who never smelled gunpowder, should be permitted to live off the earnings of honest people.

The Hopkinsville New Era remarks with its usual savagery: "The editor of the Interior Journal is not an applicant for the post-office at Stanford." Well, we should smile. Of course he is not. When a man is making $50,000 a year clear out of the newspaper business and is his own master, he'd be a bigger fool than we have ever been accused of being to accept an office that pays but $1,500 a year and makes one everybody's slave. No, we do not want the post-office and but one of our force could be induced to accept it.

The Louisville Times says: "As to the magic of numbers, there are 44 States in the Union, 444 votes in the electoral college and 222 democratic members-elect to the next House." It might have added that Cleveland's plurality in Indiana is 8,888. Bro. Barnes says four eights coming together is a sign of calamity and that nearly every day that it so fell in 1888 was unlucky and dangerous. Their connection in Indiana will prove to the republicans that there is something in the superstition.

The official vote of Illinois makes Cleveland's majority even greater than the unofficial returns figured it. The total vote is, Cleveland, 426,571; Harrison, 397,491; Bidwell, 24,590 and Weaver 20,385, making Cleveland's plurality 29,175 and his vote within less than 20,000 of as many as all the other candidates combined. Illinois has done nobly. Let her have every good thing that she asks for.

The comet hasn't struck us yet, though it was reported yesterday that it had fallen and smashed the Cumberland Gap Tunnel into smithereens. Like the old philosopher of the Frankfort Capital says, we are about as ready to let as we ever expect to be, but it does look a little hard upon us democrats to be knocked out just as we have won a great victory.

The corrected vote of Ohio gives Cleveland two more electoral votes. This is getting monotonous. Why does not some statesman like our own Col. W. O. Bradley, immortalize himself by arising and moving that the election be made unanimous?

A railroad fireman at Knoxville waded that he could drink six beer glasses full of whisky right after one another. He won the bet, but it was not enough to buy his burial outfit and his friends had to chip in to give him a decent sepulchre.

The Henderson Journal says in 1888 when Harrison was elected he said "God did it." In 1892 his remark was "God d—n it," or words to that effect.

JERRY CONSTANTINE, of Sparta, is the modern Shylock, more revengeful and bloodthirsty than Shakspeare's Jew, in Merchant of Venice, who demanded a pound of flesh from his debtor. Last April Constantine loaned a negro $40, to be paid Thanksgiving day, with the express understanding that if it was not paid then his life was to pay the forfeit. The negro did not pay and when he said he couldn't, Constantine blazed away and killed him. This cannot be called the new way to collect old debts, since the murder did not bring the money, but we should like to see it tried on a number who have owed us for years and have kept holding the "promise to the ear to break it to the hope."

The presence of President-elect Cleveland at Exmore and Hog Island, in Virginia, has given those places a prominence they have never before enjoyed, as telegrams are sent out every day giving the movements of the man of destiny in detail. There are said to be only 38 votes on the Island, every one of whom voted for Cleveland, and most all of them are applicants for office; so go where he will the ubiquitous office-seeker is there, and will be to the end of his term. The weather has been very bad since he went on the hunt, but with an oil stove on the boat to keep his fingers warm, he managed to get eight ducks Friday.

ALL the Kentucky returns are now in and the total vote stands thus: Cleveland, 175,424; Harrison, 135,420; Weaver, 23,503; Bidwell, 6,385. Cleveland's plurality is 40,004, a gain in plurality of 12,338 over 1888. It will also be seen that Cleveland has 10,111 more votes than all the candidates combined. The democratic vote is 8,000 and the republican 20,000 less than in 1888. The prohibitionists show a gain of 1,110, which will make them believe that they will get there in the sweet bye-and-bye, if it do not come too soon.

See, here, Walton! Who are you calling old?—Newport Journal. Mr. Laurie J. Blakely. Any man who is past 40 and gray is old and with a single exception no account. The present Legislature would atone for many of its sins of omission and commission if it would pass a law requiring that every man who reaches that age should be immediately beheaded, always, of course, excepting the good old man who edits the paper on the east side of the Licking.

A CONTEMPORARY figures that pensions now cost the people $510,000 a day and the demand next year will be $750,000 a day. This is outrageous and we hope another contemporary is right when it says that it begins to look like the pension sharks have bit off more than the people are going to permit them to masticate in peace.

THOMAS H. ARNOLD has shaken the dirty dust of Middleboro from his feet and like a sensible man gone to Alexandria, Ind., which is a good town, with no claim to the "magic," where he will run a daily paper. We wish him better luck than he has been having for several years. He is thoroughly capable and deserves to succeed.

NEWSY NOTES.

—The Yale football club defeated the Princeton club 12 to 0, on Thanksgiving.

—A Chicago judge sent a juror to jail for one year for offering to accept a bribe.

—A fire which caught in a fertilizer house destroyed $150,000 of property at Lynchburg, Va.

—A train on the Philadelphia and Reading road made a mile in 37 seconds, the fastest on record.

—Eight men will feel the halter draw at the Chester town, Md., jail Dec. 13, for the murder of one man.

—At Port Arthur, Ont., Willie Gohl fell into a beer vat which was boiling hot and was scalded to death.

—Montana's Legislature is democratic insuring the election of a straight United States Senator from that State.

—Connecticut gave the Cleveland electors 164,825 votes, the highest vote ever cast in the State. The plurality over Harrison was 5,570.

—Ex-Gov. Campbell, of Ohio, says he would be compelled to decline a place in Mr. Cleveland's cabinet if it were offered him, on account of his business interests.

—The 2,700 tons of bullion now piled up in the treasury, would, if coined into silver dollars and placed edge to edge make a chain 10,800 miles long.

—The official count of the Rhode Island vote is: Bidwell, 1,654; Cleveland, 24,333; Harrison, 27,069; Weaver, 227, a plurality for Harrison of 2,734.

—While going to his home at night, George Dawson, an inoffensive white man of South Pittsburg, Tenn., was robbed and murdered by three negro desperadoes.

—Crazed by the death of her child, Mrs. Callahan, of New York, jumped from the fifth story of a tenement house. Strange to say, she was not killed, but the chances are against her recovery.

—Over 19,000 defective ballots for governor were cast in the Massachusetts election. Two-thirds of these were marked incorrectly for the republican candidate and if legal would have defeated Gov. Russell.

—The Richmond Register says that Conductor Joe Taylor, of the K. C. told it that in one day he handled 18 express car loads of dressed turkeys for the Boston market.

—John Quire, a 13-year old boy of Franklin, was choked to death by a bean lodging in his wind pipe.

—Sherman Dobson, who killed Eph Hutchinson at Mill Springs in September, was arrested Friday at Somerset.

—At Richmond a large green-house and three residences were destroyed by fire. Loss $8,000; partially insured.

—Commander Welsert, of the G. A. R., claims that he will compel Southern members to recognize the negro members of the order.

—All H. Howard, dem., is elected Commonwealth's attorney in the 23d district, instead of the republican who was at first thought to have been victorious.

—Mrs. Katie Green, of Louisville, beat her 10-year-old daughter over the head with a broom handle till the child died, because the little one had told her a story.

—The Louisville & Nashville railroad will establish a line of steamers between Pensacola, Fla., and Cuba, about Dec. 16. The steamers will carry freight only for some time.

—The complete returns from California show that the election of the next United States Senator from that State will be controlled by the third party, the balance of power in the Legislature being in its hands.

—While driving with friends at Lakewood, N. J., Mrs. Cleveland made a narrow escape. The horses became frightened and unmanageable and were stopped just in time to prevent the party from being thrown over a high embankment.

—Kitty Barnes, of New York, whose father was for years a sot, too lazy to support her mother and sisters, lived a life of shame to buy them bread. After her sister's were able to make a living she reformed and is now living as a school.

—A feature of a Thanksgiving celebration at Richmond, Va., was the cutting of a mammoth Cleveland and Stevenson plum pudding by Senator Daniel. It weighed 271 pounds, that number being the latest estimate of the electoral vote received by the democratic ticket.

—Four students of the Bible College of Kentucky University, at Lexington, have been suspended for "hazing" a fellow student from Texas, who has a charge in Indiana. They initiated him into a new order and while he was stripped and blindfolded they applied blacking to him from head to foot.

—Prof. Hicks, the St. Louis astronomer and weather prophet, who foretold the tornado that destroyed portions of Illinois, is also a calamity howler. He expresses the opinion that the comet now attracting so much attention will have a "vitiat" effect on the earth and predicts the prevalence of cholera next summer.

—The Texans begin to believe that there is something in the theory of producing rain by means of concussion. Early Sunday morning after a bombardment of the heavens of several hours' duration, a balloon containing 1,000 cubic feet of hydrogen-oxygen was exploded in the centre of a cloud. The explosion was followed by a drenching down-pour, which was probably coming anyway.

—The Methodist Episcopal church of the country will spend $1,275,000 in mission work next year.

—Rev. Geo. O. Barnes will preach at the court-house here next Sunday afternoon and evening at the usual hours.

—Dr. Parkhurst, the New York divine, is preparing a map of New York city showing the situation of various dens and dens of vice. It will no doubt be in great demand by the young bloods who are initiated.

—While Thanksgiving services were being held in the Methodist church at Maysville the building caught fire and was damaged to the extent of $1,000, fully insured. The building was recently erected at a cost of $15,000.

—That the Methodist meeting is heard good fruit is evidenced by the fact that some of the stores, notably that of McKinney Bros., have out signs, "This store will close at 11:30 p. m., during the meeting at the Methodist church."

—Rev. John R. Deering, who is conducting the meeting at the Methodist church, is as lovable socially as he is potent in the pulpit, and he is doing a lasting good here. He is an old confederate soldier and feels to this day the effects of a serious wound he received in the arm while battling for the cause he loved so well, but which was destined to have its banner furled forever. After he was shot Mr. Ed Stagg attempted to send him to the rear, but while doing so he was so badly shot in the leg that it had to be amputated. It is needless to say that the two are fast friends. They hadn't met for a long time till Sunday, when they fell on each other's necks and wept tears of joy to see each other again in the flesh. The meeting is waning up and we hope to publish that many have fled from the wrath to come. Services the rest of the week at 10 A. M. and 6:30 P. M.

THE popular optician, Dr. G. Goldstein, was called to Danville Saturday to practice his profession, but by special request will return Dec. 3 to remain a few days. He says that Stanford is one of the best towns in his circuit and that he never fails to do a good business here and give satisfaction.

Q & C.—A sleeping car leaves Cincinnati daily at 3 p. m., running via Harrison, arriving at Knoxville at 7:55 a. m., Hot Springs at 12:30 p. m. and Asheville at 2:30 p. m. This is the only through sleeping car line to the celebrated resorts of Western North Carolina. D. G. Edwards, G. P. A., Cincinnati, O.

EVERY architect or other experienced man who examined the Opera House said that the damage to the walls by the fire was not of such a nature as would render them weak or insecure. That they were tight the test of the "Engineers" ball has fully proved. There were 110 people dancing at one time with fully 200 others looking on and not a sign of a shake occurred.

FIRE—Judge W. O. Hanford, of Crab Orchard, is playing in bad luck this year. He was burned out again last week, making the second time in a few months. He was living since the hotel fire in Mr. James R. Lawless' pretty cottage, but a defective flue got in its work and he and family are homeless again. Some of his furniture was saved, but it is almost worthless. The insurance of $1,500 on the house ran out four days before, so Mr. Lawless' loss is total.

The manager of Walton's Opera House wrote to the manager of the Zola Company of Parish Beanties that as he had the confidence of his patrons he would frankly state to them whether ladies should attend the show or not, and received the following: "I can positively assure you that there is nothing in the Zola Company that will offend the most fastidious lady. You can book the company with perfect safety, on the absolute assurance that there will be nothing to offend." They will be here Dec. 15th.

The supper given by the ladies of the Presbyterian church proved a very profitable one to them, as well as enjoyable to those who partook of it. The amount taken in was $130 clear of all expenses. The engineers patronized it very liberally, not a single couple failing to put in a dollar. It was an extra good church supper, the oyster soup especially. Ordinarily there is only a suspicion of an oyster in it; this had at least three and was well made. The credit of the supper is due to Mrs. James W. Alcorn, most entirely, she having gotten it up and worked faithfully to make it a success.

We are glad to see that the London Echo endorses Mrs. Sallie C. Craft so strongly for post-mother of its town and that it showed its good sense by using our identical words in doing so.

It seems like an age since we sent out the last INTERIOR JOURNAL and some of the items are as stale and unprofitable as last year's broom nests. We would die of ennui on a weekly paper.

SOME one suggests that Messrs. Horace S. Withers, J. B. Owsley and S. H. Baughman would have been the last men they could have thought of who would have painted the town red, and yet if they were to be arraigned in court they could not deny the allegation, much less deny the alligator.

A NEARLY thief stole the tramsom from the front door of the new house opposite the College, Saturday night, and some one, through inaction or carelessness, threw a stone through one of the large window panes. We object to the substitution of hades or sheol for the name of the place these scamps are destined to go. The old-fashioned, burning, red-hot hell is too good for them.

MURDER.—Sidney Wortham, the excellent agent of the L. & N. at Jellico, was murdered Thursday night. Jack Jonas had been keeping a house of very bad repute and the good citizens, including Mr. Wortham, decided to put an end to it. They went there that night and demanded admission, but instead a shot was fired through the window, which struck Mr. Wortham, killing him in 15 minutes. Frank McMillan, who has a brother living in Garrard, and a Jonas boy were arrested and taken to Jackshoro, but on the examining trial although McMillan is said to have confessed to the shooting, they were discharged. Mr. Wortham was an exceedingly popular man and one of high standing. He belonged to the same Knights Templar command as the members here and frequently visited them. Since going to Jellico, five years ago, he married and leaves a wife and one child. The remains were taken to Leitchfield, Grayson county, the home of his parents, for interment.

KILLED.—Last Friday afternoon, while most of the citizens of Hustonville were attending the funeral of Shack Huffman, William Powers and Conrad Russell, from Rolling Fork, rode into town firing their pistols and otherwise acting in a disorderly manner. They went into stores, knocked goods about, insulted people and played hades generally. Marshal J. H. Taylor ordered them to desist, but they drew their weapons on him when he attempted to arrest them. Just as Powers had leveled his at him, Taylor, who is as game as a tiger and quick as lightning, fired his Winchester and Powers bit the dust. He then turned on Russell, who not liking that kind of treatment, surrendered, but it took four men to put him in the lock-up, while he swore vengeance upon each and every one of them. Powers lingered till 10 o'clock that night and died. He was a man of magnificent physique, and had he turned his life into another channel than rowdiness he might have made something of himself. Six feet six inches high and weighing 230 pounds, he was a veritable Goliath, but he met his David and will no more disturb the peace of that end of the county. He had had previous trouble with Mr. Taylor and had threatened to kill him if he ever got a chance. It is supposed that he went to Hustonville with the intention of making a chance. Russell was brought here and held to bail in $225. Marshall Taylor was put under guard of J. S. Crook and brought here, when Judge Cannon fixed his bail at $1,000, which he readily gave. Not a soul blames him for the killing and all who know the facts praise him for his prompt and effective work. The coroner's jury vindicated him and at his trial here today he will no doubt be discharged, with the injunction, "do and do so again, under similar conditions."

DEATH'S DOINGS.
—Mr. C. C. Williams came down Sunday for a basket for little Sam, the 15-months-old son of his brother, M. C. Williams. The little fellow had been sick since last spring. Mrs. Williams is a daughter of W. F. Kennedy, late of this county.
—J. Shack Huffman died at Hustonville, Tuesday, of consumption, aged 29. The deceased had been troubled with the dread disease for years and for the last six months had been in a very feeble condition. He was conscious at the time of his death and when his sister, Mrs. Cannitz, asked him if she could do anything for him he answered: "I want rest" and laying back on his pillow he died in a few minutes. Mr. Huffman was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Huffman and was an exceedingly clever young man. His remains were laid to rest Friday afternoon in the cemetery at Hustonville, after appropriate remarks by Rev. W. W. Bruce. A large number of friends attended his burial.
—After lingering for several days in great agony, Peter Claudius, son of Eld. J. Q. and Mrs. Nannie Montgomery, died Friday morning from the effects of the wound received from a pistol fired by James Powell while they were out hunting together. The wound was in the back and the hole torn by it was nearly as large as a man's hand. Claudius was an unusually bright boy, the pride of his father and the hope of his mother, both of whom are overwhelmed with grief at his untimely death. During the last meeting of Rev. Mark Collis at McCormack's he professed religion and was a received and accepted child of God. The funeral services were held at the church of which he was a member at 1 o'clock Saturday, after which a long procession of loving friends followed the remains to Buffalo Cemetery and tenderly laid them away to await the happy resurrection. It is useless for us to try to offer consolation to the bereaved parents. They know better than we to whom to look for comfort and may God grant them a safe deliverance in this time of great trouble.

—OF—
A Desirable Blue-Grass Farm.
LINCOLN CIRCUIT COURT.
Pursuant to a judgment of the Lincoln Circuit Court, rendered at its October term, 1892, in the action of William P. Tate against John Bright, &c. I will on

MONDAY, DEC. 12TH, 1892,
County court day at 2 o'clock p. m., or thereabout, before the court-house door in Stanford, Ky., offer at public auction to the highest bidder, the valuable and desirable Blue-Grass Farm known as the Old Bright Homestead,

—Containing about—
One Hundred & Fifty Acres
Of fine land, one-half in grass. Said Farm has upon it a comfortable dwelling, two barns, orchard, water and other improvements and is situated about 4½ miles north of Stanford, in Lincoln County, Ky., fronting on the turnpike road leading from Stanford to Danville and bounded on the South by the lands of James Givens, East by the lands of Horace Withers North by the lands of Joseph Ballou and West by the lands of John M. Reid, Joseph Ballou and James Givens.

TERMS.—A credit of six and twelve months in equal installments. Bonds with good personal security, bearing 6 per cent. interest from day of sale until paid, having the force and effect of judgment and a lien retained upon the land until the purchase money is paid.
The sale will be made to satisfy a judgment in favor of plaintiff, Tate, for $2,000 and $100 probable costs of this action.

A HAPPY OCCASION.

B. L. E.—The first annual ball of P. Leed's Division, 403, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, proved as eminent. ly successful as it was thoroughly enjoyable. Walton's Opera House was beautifully decorated with emblems, flags and other bunting, while red, white, blue and green lanterns vied with the electricity in furnishing a bright and pretty light. This brotherhood is the finest and best labor organization in the world, and this division must be the cream, for the men are handsome, intelligent and sober and favorably compare in personal appearance with any body of men, whether gathered in legislative or convention halls. Each man was on his best behavior and if a single one of them had taken a drink even it escaped the observation of the keenest-scented nasal appendage that ever sniffed the accursed stuff. One hanger on, not connected with the railroad, got to feeling his oats, and he was promptly hurried off to jail, where he spent the rest of the night. "Ten years ago," said the chairman of the B. L. E. adjusting committee, Mr. S. W. Pettibone, "the engineers would not have been able to give such an entertainment without some trouble. The Brotherhood has raised the standard of morals and conduct and a drunken engineer is the exception to the rule of sobriety maintained. The order forbids drunkenness and its rule is enforced by suspension or expulsion, in either case followed by discharge when reported to the railroad companies. We are now physically the flower of the earth. No disease-tainted, undersized or deformed man is ever allowed to fire and begin the apprenticeship of our vocation, nor any who cannot give reference as to his moral standing."

The crowd began to gather at the handsomely decorated hall at 7:30 and from that till 9:30 youth and beauty continued to arrive. At the latter hour the programme was begun and till 3 a. m. Terpsichore was worshiped above all gods. Scally's band from Louisville furnished the music, which was highly praised by both the dancers and spectators. The committee of arrangements, consisting of Messrs. George Rae, Thos. Higgins and Dave Burgess, had everything in readiness and from the beginning to the ending of the ball there was not a hitch nor a bobble. The reception committee did good work and all who were present were given a hearty welcome by those gentlemen—Messrs. J. B. Keyer, James P. Kearns, W. F. Sheridan, W. Q. Fullerton, L. M. Westerfield and Thomas Lasley. The members of the floor committee are also to be congratulated on their untiring energy in making each and every one have a good time and feel that it was good for him to be there. On this committee were Messrs. Thomas Hurley, J. W. Flowers, Ollie Pierce, Thomas Higgins, Dave Burgess, R. L. Martin and others. Mr. Geo. Rae was prompter and general utility man and to him is a good share of the success due. The hop was an elegant affair altogether and one that will not soon die from the memories of those who were fortunate enough to be there. The following is a list of the ladies and a description of their costumes:

LOUISVILLE.
Mrs. J. W. Combs, white China silk; white roses.
Mrs. C. W. Huffman, China silk, chiffon lace; diamonds.

Mrs. Minnie Donahue, gray evening dress.
MICHMOND.
Miss Mary McCollum, red China silk, chiffon.
Mrs. William Rice, black silk; jet ornaments.

The Stanford ladies who took part were: Mrs. E. F. North, Mrs. T. A. Rice, Mrs. G. L. Penny and Misses Helen Sanley, Anne Shanks, Annie Hale, Nannie Vandever, Mary Davies, Duderar Lola Burks, and Mrs. Frank Harris.

As every gentleman from Rowland and a great many from this place were present, we have not the space to mention their names.

The gentlemen from Corbin were: A. G. Zook, W. Q. Fullerton, Capt. Frank Kearns, John Mahoney, Bart Baker, Wm. Keyer, Capt. John Harris.

London—W. H. Carrier, J. B. Elmerline, W. G. McRoberts and Wm. Pugh.

Knoxville—J. R. Cabbell, C. R. Gurney, L. D. Crawford, J. J. Clark, T. S. Webb, W. L. Bayless.

Lebanon—Clarence Anthony.

At Salsersville Anderson Cole was arrested on the charge of incest, made by his two young daughters. The evidence is very strong against him and he will have to be sent away to prevent mob violence.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

OF STANFORD, KY

Capital Stock.....$200,000

Surplus.....20,000

Attention of the public is invited to the fact that this is the only National Bank in Stanford (Ind.) the provisions of the National Bank Act deposited are secured not only by the capital stock, but by the stockholders' liability for an amount equal to the stock, so that depositors of this institution are secured by a fund of $220,000. Five sworn statements of the condition of the bank are made each year to the United States government and its assets are examined at stated times by government agents, thus securing additional and perfect safety to depositors.

This institution, originally established as the Deposit Bank of Stanford in 1888, then re-organized as the National Bank of Stanford in 1893 and again re-organized as the First National Bank of Stanford in 1895, has had practically an uninterrupted existence of 37 years. It is better supplied now with facilities for transacting business promptly and liberally than ever before in its long and honorable career. Accounts of corporations, fiduciaries, firms and individuals respectfully solicited.
